Blue Sky Thinking

at the Celtic Ross Hotel

Good business decisions are all about clear thinking, focus and effective strategy. In the office, with its myriad distractions, it can be impossible to achieve the focus and clarity you need. The inevitable encroachment of the daily grind gets in the way ... the urge to check emails one more time, or to just take that one client phone call ... constant distraction.

Sometimes the only way to concentrate on the business at hand is to take it out of the office and choose an external venue for your strategy meeting, training, conference or team building exercise. At the Celtic Ross Hotel, we understand your business needs and provide professional, efficient business facilities alongside exemplary service. You have everything you need to get the job done on a stretch of the West Cork coast that's tailor-made to inspire creativity and innovation. All of it just a short hour west of Cork City & Airport.
